1. If the congressman was Republican, there was a 96.69421488% chance it was clustered in the Republican party. If the congressman was Democratic, there was a 100% chance that it was clustered in the Democratic party. Thus we have an overall we have a 98.16513761% correct classification about any congressman.

2. The people who were misclassified may have been misclassified because they had voting patterns similar to those of the opposite party or was commonly different with the general consensus of the party.

3. 63.48448687% of the median votes differed by cluster.

Agree on: Ukraine Cybersecurity Relations, Funding for health care, Fighting Against Sex Trafficking

Disagree on: Home Mortgage, Department of Defense Funding, Disabled people's rights